

Saif Ali Al Dahbashi

President – Missiles & Weapons, EDGE Group

Saif Ali Al Dahbashi is President of the Missiles & Weapons cluster at EDGE, one of the world's leading advanced technology and defence groups.

Al Dahbashi has considerable experience in shaping and implementing large-scale transformational programmes across major commercial organisations. In his current capacity, he provides oversight and strategic direction on the development and business functions of four companies within the cluster: Al TARIQ, CARACAL, HALCON, and LAHAB.

Prior to this, Al Dahbashi was CEO of AL TAIF, an EDGE entity and the UAE's leading in-country provider of lifecycle support for military land platforms and systems, where he was responsible for managing business operations and playing a dynamic role in shaping and steering the strategic direction of the company. Al Dahbashi also previously served as COO at AL TAIF.

Prior to joining AL TAIF, Al Dahbashi was Vice President at Strata Manufacturing, where he was tasked with manufacturing operations and operational strategy for the aerospace composite structure facility. He also served as Strata's Head of Production, where he supervised production activities.

Previously, in 2009, Al Dahbashi handled aerospace asset management, financial overviews and outcomes of aerospace performance, and training programme development at Mubadala Investment Company.

He holds a Master of Science in Information Systems and Information Security, along with a Bachelor of Science in Computer Information Systems from Marymount University in Arlington, Virginia, USA.